

Favourite Stranger

guitar fig.1 (guitar examples are simplified):

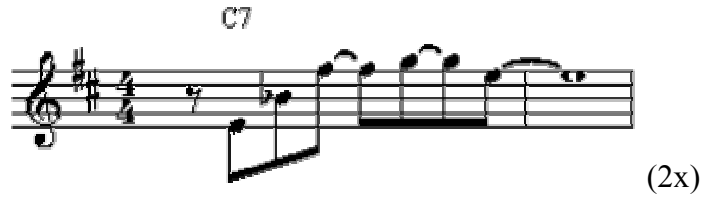

fig.2:

Some times I feel I lost something

2

In gaining everything

2

G/D D C/D D C/D

But I can't put my finger on what it was

1

It's just one of those nagging feelings

1

Like sitting with your back to an open door

fig.3.:

1

Waiting on a favourite stranger

3

a favourite stranger

2

I find it hard to talk about, its not easy

As you might expect

2

D G/D C D

Just sitting here waiting, trying to accept

1

That there's something missing

1

That there's something not quite there

3

And that's why you're sitting there

Listening to me as I try to explain that

Eb6

You're my favourite stranger

Bbm

But don't read between the lines

Eb6

Bbm

I could say that I love you at this moment

In passing time

Ab

But I could honestly tell you

I don't know why I'm here

F

Sharing all my problems with you

When you've already got your own share

3

From favourite strangers

1

2

Maybe it's just I need an audience to 2

Pretend it's all an act

2

G/D D C/D D C/D

But all I gain is your confidence

And a number in a filofax

1

On the terms that it's a first name

1

That'll run one day in spilt champagne

3

And I'll recollect and just accept

1

That you were one of my favourite strangers

3

my favourite stranger

Eb6

You're my favourite stranger

Bbm

But don't read between the lines

Eb6

Bbm

I could say that I love you at this moment

In passing time

Ab

But I could honestly tell you

I don't know why I'm here

F

Sharing all my problems with you

When you've already got your own share

3

From favourite strangers

1

2

Sometimes I know I lost everything

2

In gaining something

2

G/D D C/D D C/D

But I can't put my finger on what it was

1

Its just one of those nagging feelings

1

3

Like sitting with your back to an open door

1

Expecting favourite strangers

3

Expecting favourite strangers

1

I could honestly tell you
3
that you're my favourite stranger
1
I could honestly tell you
1
that you're my favourite stranger
